CURRICULUM VITAE

Bio-Data

Bio-Data I teach Strategy for MBA, and have four Ph.D. scholars at UNICAF University (Cyprus). I am also a visiting professor of Graduate School of Business at the University of South Pacific, Fiji, and Oriental University, India. I have earned Ph.D. in Management from Sri-Sri University. I am also a Fellow member of British Computing Society. I have over 14 years of teaching and research experience.

My teaching interests cover a range of topics including; Strategy, Business Computing, Management Information System, Introduction to Blockchain & Cryptography and Business Entrepreneurship.

I am particularly interested in the discovery of the impact of new technologies on rural business owners to determine if they are included or excluded from new technology trends. I have published widely on a broad range of subjects. My current research focuses on global information systems, systems development, the impact of information technologies, and technology issues in Small Family Businesses.
